a fractured shaft. ble Outlook for Crops.

London, September 6.—The Weekly Telegram of the Viceroy of India above that there has been great improvement in the weather. In Madras, though prices are dearer, there has been a pretty general rain, which has improved the crops. In Bombay prices are not yet cheaper, but the prospects are much improved. Reports are generally of a similarly favorable tenor. Improvement in Punjaub'is particularly conspicuous.

The Lieut. Governor of Punjaub telegraphs that the prospects are immensely improved. The apring crop sowings have been secured over the important grain producing districts. In Mysore the weather has been bad, and the prospects are worse in all the districts.

SERIOUS MISTAKE.

Seven Hundred Killed.

Osman Pasha in a Tight Place.
LONDON, September 6.—The Russian lancers at Lovats makes Osman Pasha have a hoatile force on both flanks. Either a defeat at Plevna or an attempted withdrawal may result in the destruction of his army, unless the Russians are compelled to weaken their forces on that side to meet Mehmit All's advance from Rasgrad. The latter seems to place the Czarowitch's army in a position very similar to Osman Pasha's.

If the Turkish accounts may be trusted, a Turkish force has crossed the Low and reached the neighborhood of Obirtini, while another force has crossed the Kara Low to Palomarks. These corps are understood to be operating against Billa, but they jeopardize the whole Russian campaign east of Yewton, as well as communications with Tirnova.
